

Exploring Void

No doubt and confusion arise in the mind about a subject which is perpetual and eternal. There is no doubt in mind about the truthfulness of the sky, the air, the sun, and the Nature. Whatever is true, remains true for everyone in the world forever. Just waiting to be understood analytically like mathematics, matters are understood only with the help of evidence. In the same way, we have to understand the next real stage by analyzing what we see in front of our eyes. We have to move ahead in steps by following the analysis. Whatever things exist within the eternal Space, they are not beyond matter. Everything that has reached the limit of our thought is considered as matter. Beyond this, the innumerable streams that are within this eternal Space, can be accessed through matter as everything is based on matter. It can only be understood through logical and intelligent analysis. We may not know many things beyond our known universe, but there is nothing beyond matter, nothing is imaginary. Everything is there, whatever exists within this known world. Creation is happening continuously from the existing matter. The water of the river is used in different manners by transporting through canals and is used for different purposes using different techniques. Here, we see the excavator, we acknowledge the craftsmanship of an author in his writing and poet in his poem, but in Nature's kingdom The Creator is also a craftsman. It can be well understood through logic and analysis that exist within the air, water, fire, earth, and space, and also with the collaboration of the finest particles, every creation emerges spontaneously. There is a conscious flow within everything, and we can realize it with a logical mind. By analyzing our own body, it can be comprehended that the creation is alert. This body is the expression or form of a creation. Judging every action of the body thoroughly, one can understand how much each of the tiny subatomic particles is so conscious. But we cannot certainly pinpoint this consciousness within the body. What we see, hear, realize – no one can truly identify who is the one listening, who is seeing and who is feeling. The power of vision is not presiding within the eyes. The action of seeing or hearing is the combination of many things happening in the body. The awareness of creation is also just like that. Everyone is being aware through the combined alertness of all. The creation that is being done by nature is a similar way like it is being done in the body. This transformation of food into blood and flesh, then into sperm cannot be traced out. Who is doing it, how it is happening and above all who is motivating this cannot be traced. Neither God, nor anyone else is doing it separately from outside. This work is being done in accordance with the communication between the organs of the body. The tongue, esophagus, stomach, veins, sub-veins none of them are working individually. But this work is being done by a combined effort of all. Unless every atom in the body is aware of this, there can be no proper coordination. This way if different matters of Nature are analyzed, it can be understood that Nature is always conscious. But it is unknown where this awareness comes from. When it is searched, everything vanishes into the Void. Everything is portrayed within the canvas of the Great Space. The work of Nature is to make us aware. Everything is meticulously decorated within the creations of Nature. Through these creations Nature is informing us of some message. If we plant a seed in the ground, it will germinate after some days, the leaves will come out, and stalks will be hardened and then bear flowers and fruits. How do flowers and fruits come out from a seed? In reply if we say it is done by God then our logic and thinking gets weakened. This is the continuous flow of Nature. None is pushing it from behind, neither is pulling it from the front. This movement is one of Nature's underlying conscious moves. It cannot be described how the sky is formed, similarly it cannot be explained how Nature is being made. This is eternal. We can analyze it but cannot provide a stepwise illustration. The eternal Sky is empty, and creations are sketched on it. The process of sketching on the emptiness is happening continuously. The Void and the creation both are eternal and conscious. There is no end of this Void, no history of it. Similarly, there is no start and end of creation. There is just the original endless eternal sustained motion. When we move ahead in that trend, we will find more ahead. There is no end of Nature as such there is no end of the sketches in Space. We may think this is the end, but then we can see more. These sketchings are revealed as the creation. Every line of this sketch is conscious and is happening naturally. With the conscious activity within these sketches, one can realize the fullness of the Void, and it becomes quite clear that the creation is not purposeless. The very quality of the Void is consciousness, awareness, and righteousness, which all gets revealed through these sketches of creation. These sketches are working as representatives of the Void. If the way Void expresses through the canvas of the sketches, is analyzed and extrapolated, it would reveal what it was before, and what it might be later. The creation is for wisdom and Nature is enlightening through the creations, that "the path is open, keep your vision fixed and move forward observing your surroundings". One who can explore further the deeper links, will be increasingly capable of exploring this secret. Then we can feel where we are, where we were, where we will go, whether we will go at all – and all these questions will get answered. The mind will become sharper only if we continue to explore the trend through this creation which is a combination of innumerable matter of the universe. At first we need to move forward exploring surrounding objects. As we move forward, and as our mind becomes sharper, Nature would reflexively guide us in the right direction. We may have started to progress with an understanding, subsequently thousands of realizations will usher us towards the path of ultimate purpose. Eventually, the mysteries of eternal Space will be unveiled one after the other⁸.

⁸ Korachabuk, Year 4, Serial No. 1600, 01-Oct-1974