

Endless Void

We need to understand how the creation has happened, why the creation has happened, and what is the purpose of creation. Nature continues to create this visible world through the process of cessation of desires in order to know and realize oneself. This is how forms after forms are being created. Even today the process to understand oneself is underway. The flow of creation is thus continuing. Even today forms after forms are being created and continuously evolving towards eternity. The Void is conscious, omnipotent, awake at all times. That is why there is an endless stream of creations from the Void.. The Creator wants that all the creations from The Originator should become omnipotent and conscious to be united again with The Creator as per the law of creation. Let all wisdom of the universe be engraved within Himself, let everything be under His control. Hence, all the meditation and spiritual pursuit is to be united with the Void. The Void is our only focus and our only wisdom – as “Dhayet Shunyam Aharnisham”. This Void Space is always empty. Nobody has created this Void. Void was forever and will remain forever. There are no ups and downs of the Void, no start and no end. But Void has wisdom, consciousness, and identity. That is why other living worlds have been emanating from the Void since ages. All of us in the living world have emerged from that infinite, endless state. The constituents of The Void are fire, water, and air. All living beings are made of the same things. Everything is made from the matter of the Void. As we are built with the matter of Void, there is a resemblance of the Void in us. We are under the influence of The Void. Hence, nothing can be found of us. Who eats, who sees, who hears, who understands can never be comprehended. Our hands, feet, mouth, nose, ears, none does anything, does not understand anything. Once again when all are together in tune, everyone can know and understand everything. This state of “being” and “not being” is the state of The Void. This is again the identity of The Great. There is no end, as it is “The Infinite”. That is why He is referred as the Void or Empty. Yet, everything is residing within this Void. Because it is empty, that is why the sky is blue, the sea is blue. There is no colour, but it looks blue. Again, when the blue is scattered more by the air molecules, there would be something within this blue. There is no boundary of this Sky in which everything exists as a vanishing state. This emptiness and the sketches within are eternal. The way Void is expressed in that same manner everything is drawn on it. Nobody creates it separately. The state of emptiness is the state of remaining in completeness²².
